

CIPHE is introducing a free scheme which will make it easier for consumers to pick a professional when considering integrating renewable / sustainable technologies and solutions within their homes.

Under the GreenPlumb scheme, members of CIPHE that have embraced these technologies and committed to training and Continuing Professional Development, will be equipped with the tools to deliver a green service, with the ability to advise members of the public with regards to the integration of green solutions, and their ongoing maintenance.

GreenPlumb will effectively be not just a membership scheme and a brand, but also an ongoing 'green' campaign committed to meeting the Government's Carbon reduction commitments, but primarily to protect consumers against non-professional installers with inadequate knowledge and understanding of sustainable / green technologies.

Key points

-  The scheme is voluntary
-  Membership is free
-  Membership is open to Members (MCIPHE) or Fellows (FCIPHE), who have undergone training and assessment for the Water Regulations and the Energy Efficiency Certificates and have also successfully completed at least one course as indicated overleaf.
-  Members of the scheme must engage in a minimum of 15 hours of related Professional Development each year.
-  Scheme members will be issued with an identity card bearing their photograph.
