

Independent Trustee

The Chartered Institute of Plumbing and Heating Engineering (CIPHE), a professional body and registered charity, is the leading members-led education and research organisation that represents heating and plumbing engineers.

It has c. 7,200 members mainly in the UK, but also an international presence in 30 countries. In addition, CIPHE has the direct support of some 150 manufacturing and merchant companies within the plumbing and heating sector.

CIPHE currently seeks an Independent Trustee to join its Board of Trustees. The Board, led by the Chair, works in partnership with the CIPHE Chief Executive Officer and senior staff to help implement the strategic aims of CIPHE, and to optimise relationships between the Board, the Institute's permanent staff, and local volunteers.

As a Trustee you will help formulate, monitor, and review our strategic aims and ensure best practice in governance.

Applications are invited from those who are NOT members of the CIPHE, with an interest in public service and health, and a passion for excellence, who can demonstrate:

- Leadership skills gained in the community, business, or workplace.
- Strong communication skills - working closely with a wide variety of organisations including government.
- An understanding of how to set clear organisation-wide objectives and monitor performance.
- The ability to contribute to the formulation of the Institute's strategic direction.
- Exposure to legal practices

The appointment, which will commence in 2018, is for a four-year term with a commitment to attend around five meetings a year. The role is unpaid, but expenses can be claimed.

For more information on the role and the job specification please see
<https://www.ciphe.org.uk/about-ciphe/ciphe-vacancies/>