

The True Value of a Professional Plumbing and Heating Engineer

The Chartered Institute of Plumbing and Heating Engineering (CIPHE) asked 1,000 homeowners to share their experiences of hiring a plumber or heating engineer.

are concerned about rogue traders

Additional work/repair caused by rogue traders has cost homeowners on average

£1883

62% would pay more for a certified plumber or heating engineer

UK homeowners spend over 65 minutes researching a plumber or heating engineer, on average

28% of respondents say their last plumber or heating engineer visit was for an emergency, stating reasons as;

76% agree or strongly agree that they trust plumbers and heating engineers will do a good job in their home

39% have an annual plumbing service

66% have an annual heating service

Proud to be a Professional